Special Course, Budo Specialization Program

Mission

Special Course, Budo Specialization Program is intended that, with Budo as a pillar of the course, international students who wish to learn Japanese language and culture will master basic Budo practice and receive instruction of Japanese enough to be able to understand lectures in undergraduate school, and consequently we will contribute to international exchanges through promoting rightly the Budo Spirit advocated by Dr. Shigeyoshi Matsumae, the founder of IBU, and sending good instructors to the world.

The Curriculum

The program identifies three areas of study: Budo, Japanese culture, and Japanese language.

The Budo curriculum combines basic practice skills and theory taught in classroom-style instruction supported by the practical experience gained in the university's Budo clubs.

Fundamental to the study of Budo, useful for daily life in Japan, and essential for an understanding of the culturally rich and complex Japanese society, Japanese culture is taught in the Budo and language classes. Elective classes specializing in this topic are available for those interested in a more in-depth study.

Budo and Japanese culture encompass many abstract concepts. There is as well a practical issue of explaining intrinsically Japanese terms and their usage. To facilitate the transmission of information and to provide for bilateral discussion, the Budo Specialization Program stresses Japanese language.

Total Enrollment

Budo Specialization Program is limited to twenty students each year.
(Based on 2018 School Year policy. Course capacity is subject to change.)

Schedule

Students are admitted to the program on April 1 of each year for a period of study of one year concluding on March 31 of the following year.

The academic year consists of two semesters: the Spring Semester (April through September); the Fall Semester (September through March).

Lessons are conducted from 09:10 to 16:20 Monday through Friday.

Holidays include Saturdays, Sundays, national holidays, and other holidays determined by the university calendar.

Budo club practices are conducted independently of the formal school schedule. Basically, practices are conducted daily in the morning and afternoon on weekdays.

Course Offerings and Requirements

Seven special curricula are available: Judo, Kendo, Kyudo, Karatedo, Naginata, Shorinji Kempo, and Aikido. One of them is compulsory.

In addition to the Budo curricula, the basic Japanese language curriculum is required to all students.

Aside from the basic studies, some elective classes are available for students who have interests. Some classes are designed to relate directly to the required Budo or Japanese language courses, while others such as "Japanese Culture" or "English" are offered to support the special needs or interests of the students.

Qualification for Program Completion

Students who have successfully completed a minimum of 26 units, including all required classes, maintained appropriate conduct throughout their residence, and satisfied all accounts with the university will be awarded the Certificate of Completion.

Scholarship

There is a program in order to support a portion of the student's study expenses. This scholarship is intended for application towards study materials, field study trips, and maintenance or purchase of Budo equipment and supplies. Scholarship recipients are selected through documentary screening of application documents for admission (especially Budo experiences and histories of tournament results) and scholarship application forms sent to successful candidates.

Scholarship benefits for those who are considered to be inappropriate as scholarship students may be suspended or cut off, or they may be subject to restitution, even in the middle of an academic year.

Scholarship calculation is based on attendance, participation in classes and practices, and period of residence in the university. As of the 2018 School Year, the scholarship is in principle approximately JP¥ 45,000 per month, and is available from April 1 until March 31 for the period of one year only. (This amount is subject to change. Please contact the International Office for current figures.)

Besides this, MEXT scholarship system may be available.

Health and Medical Requirements

The university maintains a health center and rehabilitation clinic which are available to all students. The Health Center is staffed by nurses, and is open during regular school hours. Adjacent to the university there is a small full service hospital. In the event of serious medical situations, located in the adjacent town, there is one of Japan's largest hospitals. In each case above, Japanese National Health Insurance is accepted.

Subscription to the Japanese National Health Insurance is required of all Special Course students. The cost of the plan is approximately JP¥ 20,000 per year (according to 2018 fees) which will be paid to the City Hall in April.

University Regulations and Japanese Law

Students are required to abide by university regulations and Japanese law throughout their term in Japan. At the time of notification of admission, the student will be required to file an oath and pledge of good behavior and promise to maintain residence in the university until completion of their studies.

Academic and Extracurricular Life

The course comprises a full schedule of classes, club practices, and home study resulting in an extremely busy lifestyle for the student.

All classes and regular club activities are conducted within the university; however, there are occasional field study trips, practical study tours, and several tournament viewing excursions that require the student to travel outside of the school. The expense for such activities will be the student's responsibility.

For most part, the books and study materials required in classes will be provided by the Special Course; however, personal dictionaries, reference materials and books, and stationery are for the responsibility of the student.

Residence

Matsumae Memorial International Exchange Hall (dormitory facility) is available to all Special Course students. The Exchange Hall is a fully functional residence which includes double occupancy rooms with private bath, toilet, refrigerator and individual televisions, a common use kitchen, laundry facility, and lounge area. The Hall is administered by the International Office.

After hours, the Hall is patrolled on a regular basis and closed and locked daily at 23:00. Residence fee in the Hall is based on JP ¥ 500/day, or ¥ 15,000/full month (based on the 2018 School Year). Basic services include linen service and cleaning of common areas.

Meal Expense

Students are responsible for their own meals. During the regular session meals can be purchased at the university cafeteria. The prices range from JP ¥ 400 to 500 per meal. During the summer break the cafeteria has reduced hours, and is closed on Sundays and holidays. There are numerous restaurants in the nearby area, but their prices are slightly higher than the school cafeteria. The students may also prepare their own meals in the Hall's common use kitchen.

Katsuura City

The university is located in Katsuura City, Chiba Prefecture, in Japan. Facing the Pacific Ocean, the campus is backed by the mountains of the lower Boso Peninsula. The capital city Tokyo is only one and a half hours away by a limited express train departing hourly from Katsuura station. Katsuura's climate is generally mild; however, it does enjoy four distinct seasons. One can expect plenty of rain in Spring and Fall, Summers can be hot and humid with temperatures up to the mid-30's(°C), and the Winter may have a few days of snow. The population of Katsuura is approximately 20,000; however, being a resort town the summer season is invariably crowded with many tourists.
